Whose house are you building, anyway?
Yours, or the Builders?

Apparently there's some confusion about the answer to those questions. Many builders hand you the list of homes they build, along with a price list and a set of specifications. But when you begin to ask about modifications to those plans, the resistance begins. So, are you building your home ---- or theirs? At Gold Crest, we know exactly whose home we're building: YOURS! And it ought to be designed as a reflection of your personal needs and lifestyle. That's why the Gold Crest team invests our time, knowledge and expertise to assist you in making the modifications to our plans to complete your custom-designed home. With more than 30 plans in our portfolio we offer a broad range of designs as a starting point for your dreams and desires . . .
